

What are your core values and beliefs?

Belief is something that depends on moral ethics which is related with each human personal thought. Where people can decide right or wrong depends on his or her own beliefs. There are 3 common tasks in life which are thinking, decision making and action. If I include all the work and be honest then performing things will be very easy and there will be no fear in myself. For example, if I take a job, I should take as much work as I can. And it is very important to good perform and delivery in right time. Lastly if i want to filter my belief and values then need to day by day by learning new things.

What are your goals and aspirations?

Goal depends on achievement. This year my goal was to learn mern stack by myself and take any course which I achieved. Now I want to learn more things deeply and set a target of programming to get better at logic build and do different web project.

What are the first steps you will take to build your personal brand?

In my case i want to read article or documentation about react , mongo etc. Which is help to clear concept what i was learn in 6 months and it will also help in interview as well as and i will share it in LinkedIn, Google blogs. After i want to take 21 days coding challenge .

How does personal branding differ from self-promotion, and why is this distinction important?

Personal Branding : Personal branding basically defines overall identity, values, and the perception I want others to have about myself. And it is a long-term strategy that aims to establish a strong and positive reputation over time.

Self-Promotion: Self-promotion is basically that are share with others about specific achievements, skills, or products. It is a more specific and immediate act of showcasing oneself to achieve a short-term goal, such as getting a job, winning a contract, or gaining visibility.

Below give why is this distinction important:

1. Personal branding can be seen as positive. Because you share what you learn and experience everyday. It will help to others to share knowledge. People are learn by that also can be use it in own life.
2. On the other hand self-promotion can be create ego , arrogant . Sometimes your achievement cause of others people jealousy

Now its is creating very clear concept of both and also know output of both. It is crucial to know the distinction of both so people can balance own life and humbled. People will have very clear about their action and output.

What are you most proud of?

If I give an example of struggle to learn web development. I started it a long time ago but I always give up for some reason. Now I at least complete this journey. Now i know how to make a full web project. Now I am confident enough to achieve other goals also. However justify this my achievement